Hymn

Songs of thankfulness and praise,

Jesu, Lord, to thee we raise,

Manifested by the star

To the sages from afar;

Branch of royal David's stem

In thy birth at Bethlehem;

Anthems be to thee addressed,

God in man made manifest.

Manifest at Jordan's stream,
Prophet, priest and king supreme;

And at Cana wedding-guest

In thy Godhead manifest;

Manifest in power divine,

Changing water into wine;

Anthems be to thee addressed,

God in man made manifest.

Grant us grace to see thee, Lord,

Mirrored in thy holy word;

May we imitate thee now,

And be pure as pure art thou;

That we like to thee may be

In thy great Epiphany,

And may praise thee, ever blest,

God in man made manifest.

Justice & Peace Letter 2013

Dear Brothers and Sisters in Christ

Each New Year I get to address you about Peace and about Justice. I am well aware that this is a privileged 'top spot' on the year's programme.

We're pretty lucky in Scotland - or at least, most of us are.

But what about those who aren't? Surely we care about them?

We may not be rich but we're relatively safe:

- there's no war tearing our country apart
- no-one is threatening us with kidnap or violence

But not everyone is so lucky at this New Year: in the Middle East and parts of Africa peace is a distant dream.

Some of us have our health, and our home, and our job: we may feel secure. We have what we are entitled to. Perhaps we assume it will always be so.

But many people are not so lucky - the sick, the disabled, the unemployed, the homeless, the asylum seekers. They don't always get what they're entitled to.

For many people, even in Scotland, justice is a distant dream.

I believe, and so do you, that this has got to change.

Don't war and injustice make you angry?

Peace and justice are what God wants.

When is somebody going to do something about it?

Somebody?

Let me quote a well-known remark: If not me, who? If not now, when?

As Catholics, we have been asked to think again about how Christ's good news can spread:

You'll have heard it called New Evangelisation. Working for peace and justice would give a wonderful witness, a new Gospel message. It can start small, and it should start local - in your community, in your parish.

Please think of joining, or starting, a Justice & Peace group among your friends. Contact us at Justice & Peace for information, ideas and support: that's what we're there for.

A very happy, fair and peaceful New Year to you and all those around you.

Bishop Peter Moran, President of Justice & Peace Scotland.
